

THE 64 GATES

A Calendar Companion

How to use these pages

Each gate carries a gift. When the Sun, Earth or Moon moves through a gate, its theme colours the day. Find the number, read the few lines, and let them meet whatever you are living. These are short by design, an opening rather than the whole story. The gates run in order from 1 to 64. Look up the number the Sun, Earth or Moon is passing through on the day.

Free to print, free to pass on.

The Lines

Every gate holds six lines. In the planner you will see a number, a dot, and a second number, such as 41.3 or 12.5. The first number names the gate, the theme of the day. The second names the line, the angle the theme arrives from. A gate stays in the sky for several days and moves through its lines one by one, so the same theme keeps returning with a different tone each time. The gate tells you what the day is about. The line tells you how it wants to be met.

*Lines one, two and three lean inward, toward your own ground.
Lines four, five and six turn outward, toward the people around you.*

1 The Foundation

The day wants solid ground under it. There is a pull to look things up, to check, to understand the base before building on it. Study something to the bottom and the rest of the week has somewhere to stand.

2 The Natural

Something comes easily today, so easily you may not notice you are doing it. This line asks for time alone and does its best work when nobody is watching. If a call comes, let it be genuine before you answer it.

3 The Trial

Today learns by bumping into things. Plans shift, an attempt does not hold, and what looked like a mistake turns out to be information. Nothing is wasted here, so stay loose and let the discovery come the rough way.

4 The Friend

The day moves through people you already know. Influence travels along existing ties rather than new ones, so a message to someone familiar goes further than a stranger's door. Keep your ground before you reach for the next one.

5 The Practical

People expect something of you today, and what they expect may be larger than what you offered. This line carries useful solutions and the projections that come with them. Give what you actually have, and let the rest of the picture belong to them.

6 The Witness

The day steps back and looks from a distance. Less doing, more seeing, a certain patience with things that are still ripening. What you watch now becomes the wisdom you can hand on later.

The Gates

1 Creative Expression

Today there is a pull to express your whole self, to make something only you could make. The passage favours pure, original creation, the kind no one can copy. Become wise about it by trusting the timing, and let your expression open a door for others.

2 Receptivity

Now you are especially attuned to which way to turn. The mood of this passage is one of quiet direction, of finding the right path by staying true to your strategy and authority. Notice where the resources lie, and you can guide others there too.

3 Ordering

These days bring confusion that wants ordering, the chaos that comes with anything new. The passage carries the gift of making sense, of giving change a shape others can accept. Do not force the understanding, let it ripen in its own time.

4 Possibility

Today your mind reaches for answers, for theories and patterns to meet life's open questions. This passage loves to find how something could work. Let the question breathe first, for the answer arrives in its own hour.

5 Rhythm

Now your need for rhythm runs strong, for the rituals and habits that give you ground. This passage reminds you how much steadiness carries you toward what comes next. If the world pulls you off your beat, return to it gently, it is your true compass.

6 Conflict

Friction rises in these hours, and with it the chance for deeper closeness. The mood of this passage is the dance of conflict and intimacy, sensing when to let someone near. Move through the friction honestly, and a truer bond can form on the other side.

7 Leadership

Now you are called to guide, to lend direction to those who are looking for it. This passage carries the gift of leadership through service, reading where things are going and renewing them toward the future. Offer your steering when it is welcomed, not imposed.

8 Contribution

A wish rises in you now to let your life itself make a difference, your way of living becoming an offering. The passage favours lifting others' creations and turning the gaze toward what deserves to be seen. Be the one who says, look at this.

9 Focus

Now your attention is drawn to the small details others overlook. This passage gives the patience to lay a clear path, step by step, toward what you envision. Trust that care with the particular, for it is what makes the whole possible.

10 Self-Love

These days turn you toward self-acceptance, toward living as you truly are. The gift of this passage is that loving what makes you singular quietly frees others to do the same. Simply being yourself, in any circumstance, is the whole teaching here.

11 Ideas

Ideas arrive now like images, wanting to be shared rather than all lived out. This passage holds inspiration, passing impulses to those ready to carry them. Let your mind wander freely, for the value here is in the telling.

12 The Voice

Now the urge rises to speak something that touches people, words with something rare in them. The mood of this passage waits for the right mood, when your voice carries its full magic. Out of the right silence, the right sentence is born.

13 The Listener

People confide in you now without quite knowing why, leaving their stories in your keeping. This passage is one of listening and gathering, of holding what others share. From what you keep, people learn to see their own lives more clearly.

14 Prosperity

Now your energy gathers around what you love. This passage multiplies abundance when your effort flows toward what truly fulfills you. Pour yourself into that, and it can sustain far more than yourself.

15 Compassion

These days ask you to move flexibly between rhythms, at ease in extremes others avoid. The passage opens a wide compassion, room for the whole range of human ways without judgement. Let your love of life be broad enough to hold almost everything.

16 Enthusiasm

An enthusiasm rises now for a skill you want to deepen through practice. This passage carries devotion, the repetition that turns technique into mastery. Let your eagerness be the spark that makes others want to try.

17 Opinions

These days patterns form into a clear opinion. The passage gives a view others can lean on, one that holds even under question. Wait to be asked, and your insight will land where it is needed.

18 Correction

Now you notice what has gone crooked, feeling the cause of a flaw at once. This passage brings the gift of seeing how to make things better and more alive. Aim this care at what can be mended, not at yourself.

19 Needs

Now your sensitivity is heightened to the needs around you, sensed before they are spoken. This passage knows where the resources are and how to point the way. Tend first to your own needs, so the giving stays full.

20 The Now

These hours you are especially present, awake to the living moment. The passage turns that awareness into the right word and act at the right time. Stay here, and what needs doing reveals itself.

21 Control

Now the wish rises to hold the reins of your own resources and ground. This passage makes the hard calls about means and territory so the whole can stand. Lead what is truly yours, and let the rest be free.

22 Grace

In the right mood these days you carry a grace and charm that draws people in. When the mood turns, the passage asks for your solitude, and that is no flaw. Honour your weather, and let your openness arrive in its own time.

23 The Clear Voice

Now you make the strange and new simple enough to be heard. This passage lets complex things pass through you and come out clear. Wait for the right ear, and your insight will be welcomed instead of resisted.

24 Return

Your mind returns now, again and again, to the beginning of a thought. This passage turns an idea until its worth shows and the new becomes easy to receive. Let understanding come on its own, the turning cannot be rushed.

25 Innocent Love

A pure, innocent openness meets you in these days, ready to accept life as it comes. The passage helps you weather any challenge and find your feet again. Let your heart stay clean, whatever the world brings.

26 Persuasion

Now you turn a situation toward the good with ease, with the least effort and the right word. The passage gives real persuasive power, and asks you to keep it honest. Keep your promises, and your influence becomes a gift.

27 Caring

A wish to care for others runs strong now, to raise the quality of the lives around you. This passage is a deep and tender strength. Care for yourself first, so your giving never empties the well.

28 Meaning

These days life feels like a game worth playing fully, ready for risk and the next adventure. The passage searches each experience for what makes it worth living. Its gift is to find the meaning others walk past.

29 Commitment

Now you are ready to say yes and give yourself wholly, even without knowing where it leads. This passage is devotion, the power to see a thing through. Let your yes be true, and you can carry any journey to its end.

30 Desire

Desire burns brightly now, a longing to taste the new and gather feeling from it. The passage makes you intense, passionate, alive with wanting. Find your clarity before you leap, and the fire becomes light.

31 Influence

Now you sense clearly what moves people, their needs and longings. This passage can lead them toward a future that serves them well. Speak when you are chosen for it, and your voice becomes a current others follow.

32 Continuity

An instinct for the true worth of things sharpens now, for what will last and what is best let go. This passage keeps endeavours alive across time while you adapt to change. It guards the thread that joins beginning to lasting.

33 Retreat

Now you feel the need to withdraw, to be alone and draw the lesson out of experience. This passage asks for retreat before sharing, time to choose what to keep and what to release. From your stillness the story returns clarified.

34 Power

Great energy moves through you now, keeping you busy, often with many things at once. This passage seeks an outlet and wants to show your singular way of being. Spend it in response, not on demand, and it becomes unstoppable.

35 Experience

Now you hunger for the new, reaching for fresh experience rather than repeating the old. This passage is a collector of experiences, always moving toward the next horizon. From all you taste, wisdom quietly gathers.

36 Crisis

Change finds you these days, and growth through an emotional crossing others would flee. The passage asks you to take the time to reach clarity, learning to stay steady inside the turning. Your feeling, ripened, becomes a deep human knowing.

37 Community

Warmth draws people together around you now, the wish to belong and to hold a circle. This passage gathers and shares what the group needs so each one feels part of it. Where you are, a circle forms and no one is left outside.

38 The Fight

Now a pressure rises to find what is worth fighting for, and then to stand for it. Resistance only sharpens the passage's sense of meaning. Choose your battle well, and the struggle becomes a life with purpose.

39 Provocation

An urge to provoke stirs now, to nudge others past the surface of things. What it stirs depends on the mood you carry into it. Used in the right spirit, the passage wakes people to what they truly want.

40 Aloneness

Now you feel the urge to give to those you love, and equally the need to step back and refill. The passage holds both, work and solitude, as parts of the same love. Give from fullness, and withdraw when you must, without guilt.

41 Imagination

A new longing presses in now, the urge to begin a fresh experience. In this passage imagination starts the cycle, dreaming what has not yet happened. Let the feeling build without forcing it into life too soon.

42 Completion

Now you feel the pull to carry something all the way to its close. This passage lends the persistence to bring things to full fruit, drawing on what the past has taught. Stay until the end, for finishing is its particular grace.

43 Insight

Insight arrives suddenly now, a fresh angle on what seemed settled. This passage leaps past the usual way of thinking. Wait for the right moment to share it, and it can change everything.

44 Alertness

Now you read the past in an instant, knowing which patterns to repeat and which to avoid. This passage serves the survival and provision of those around you. Trust the swift knowing in your body, it remembers what the mind forgets.

45 Distribution

Now you are drawn to gather people around a shared aim and order the community's resources. This passage sees clearly who does what and what is needed for all to grow. It is the natural voice of the one who tends the whole.

46 Love of the Body

Now you are called to give yourself wholly to experience, losing yourself in the living of it. With every sense awake, this passage lets life move through your body completely. From such surrender comes knowledge no thought could reach.

47 Realization

Now you move through confusion with ease, at home among many possibilities. This passage lets the pieces find each other until, at last, the whole makes sense. Wait for the aha, it comes when you stop forcing it.

48 Depth

A deep well of knowing and instinct opens now, and from it practical solutions. This passage senses what is missing and how to refine and correct it. Trust your depth, and share it only when there is true room for it.

49 Principles

Now you feel keenly the emotional and material needs of your community, and the wish to share fairly. This passage lives by clear principles and stands for them when they are betrayed. Its sense of what is right can begin a needed change.

50 Values

Now you feel what is right and wrong in a situation, sensing the values that keep people well. This passage will question and reshape a rule that has grown unjust. It is a quiet guardian of care and integrity.

51 Shock

Now you are ready to meet intensity, to compete and to wake others with courage. Like a sudden shock, this passage pushes past comfort into new life. Its boldness is an initiation, a call to rise.

52 Stillness

Now you feel the pull to find the one thing on which to rest your focus. In stillness this passage takes the measure of a situation and sees the larger picture. Its quiet concentration is where true perspective is born.

53 Beginnings

Now you feel the pressure to start, to set new things in motion. This passage lights the first spark, then draws others to carry it forward. Begin freely, and let go of needing to finish it all yourself.

54 Ambition

An inner drive to rise stirs now, to better your place in work, in self, in spirit. This passage lifts the people around you toward greater things. Aimed beyond yourself, it can bring abundance to a whole community.

55 Abundance

These days your mood swings between the glass half empty and half full, and both are true. The passage lets your mood decide what is right and when, so honour it without apology. Trust that life will bring what you need when you need it.

56 Storytelling

Now you are moved to turn experience into stories that stir those who listen. Through the tale this passage passes on what has been learned. Your words light feeling in others and carry meaning further than any fact could.

57 Intuition

Your intuition is sharp now, knowing in an instant what is safe and healthy for you. This passage offers clarity in the present that guides each step. Trust the first quiet knowing, before the mind talks over it.

58 Vitality

A joyful pressure rises now to improve whatever keeps life from thriving. From it comes boldness and delight in challenging the worn-out way. This passage's aliveness is itself a call toward something better.

59 Intimacy

Now you are drawn to dissolve the walls between people and reach true closeness. This passage seeks the honest, lasting bond from which something living can grow, a work, a child, a shared world. Its gift is real meeting.

60 Acceptance

Now you feel the pressure to break past old limits and bring something new into being. Yet this passage shows that only when you accept the limit can the new break through. From acceptance, real transformation is born.

61 Inner Truth

A pull into the unknown takes you now, to ponder the mystery of things. From those depths this passage surfaces with inner truths that can inspire others. Let the wonder lead, and share the insight when it is ripe.

62 Detail

Now you are drawn to choose and order the details that make a complex thing clear. This passage names it plainly, so others can hold it too. It gives the abstract a body of words and makes it real.

63 Doubt

Your mind questions everything now, looking back to test whether a pattern truly holds. This doubt is not weakness, it is the seed of sound logic. Ask the right question, and you protect what is worth trusting.

64 Confusion

Now you feel the pressure to make sense of images and memories crowding your mind. The passage asks you not to force the meaning, but to let the pieces settle on their own. In time the picture clears, and the aha arrives unbidden.

The printed editions

These pages are free to print and free to pass on. Print them double sided, staple the corner, and keep them beside the planner.

If you would rather not print them, the companion also exists as two printed booklets. One is cut to the 208mm square that fits a Traveller's Notebook. The other is a saddle-stitched A5. Both are printed in the Artutopia colours, on paper that takes a pen.

They live beside the Reading the Sky planners at artutopia.ca.

